Daniel E. Sosnowski

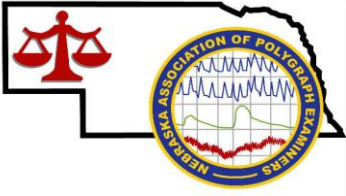

Dan has been an Instructor for the Public Agency Training Agency Counsel for over 18 years. He has been awarded a Senior Research Fellow in Forensic Psychology at the University of Birmingham, United Kingdom. In January 2008 he was selected as Subject Matter Expert to teach the Counter Intelligence Command in Iraq on behalf of the U.S. Government. In June 2008, he was once again selected as Subject Matter Expert to teach the Iraqi Ministry of Defense and Ministry of Interior on behalf of the U.S. Government.

He was a former police officer in the Chicago area and was on the staff at John E. Reid & Associates. He is the former director of two polygraph training schools who have taught numerous law enforcement officer as well as individuals from the private sector.

Dan is President of SOS Polygraph Services, Inc., a private polygraph and consulting company located in Marietta, Georgia. SOS Polygraph Services, Inc. is currently performing a wide range of services and specializes in sex offender testing. Dan has been a leader in the area of developing tactics and techniques to interview individuals involved in sexual deviant behavior. He has been teaching this specialized course to police agencies, therapist and probation officers.

He conducts numerous training seminars across the United States and Europe regarding Interviewing Sexual Deviant Behavior. He is a clinical member of the Association for the Treatment of Sexual Abusers (ATSA). Dan is the Past President for the American Polygraph Association and was elected a Life Member. He served on the Board of Directors for 11 years. He has been actively involved in the area of research regarding the use of polygraph with sex offenders and domestic violence.

Dan's diverse background in both the private and law enforcement agencies, along with presently conducting criminal interviews and interrogations, gives him a wealth of knowledge and experience to draw from. As a speaker, Dan is very informative and motivating. His sense of humor makes it a pleasure to listen to him. He easily adapts to circumstances and surroundings, which is one of the foremost assets of any successful interviewer.

Special Agent Brad Beeler – United States Secret Service

Learning Objectives:

1. Illustrate methods on how to decrease levels of anxiety in an interview setting that interfere with the ability to exchange information.
2. Discuss techniques on how an interviewer can utilize information obtained from social media and other sources to become the “mythical” person with whom the subject wants to interact.
3. Discuss common pre-test and in-test errors for both specific issue and screening examinations.
4. Explore best practices to be utilized in law enforcement screening examinations.
5. Explore elicitation techniques that can increase the amount of truthful information provided during post-test interrogation.
6. How to effectively conduct a “tactical” polygraph on a child pornography suspect in order to access a potential history of hands-on offenses.

NEBRASKA ASSOCIATION OF POLYGRAPH EXAMINERS

Our presenter for this session is Brad Beeler with the United States Secret Service. He attended the University of Missouri- St. Louis, where he attained his Master's Degree in Criminology. Brad has been a Special Agent with the Secret Service for the past 20 years. Brad is now serving the USSS as their liaison to the federal polygraph school at Fort Jackson, SC. In this capacity he serves as the course manager for interviewing techniques and provides instruction on polygraph pre-test, LEPET applicant screening, and sex offender testing. As a polygraph examiner for the past 13 years he has conducted hundreds of polygraph exams for local police departments throughout the country, primarily in cases involving exploited children. Since 2011, Brad has assisted numerous ICAC investigations by utilizing "tactical polygraph" examinations in order to identify hands on offenders. Over seventy (70) of these examinations have resulted in hands on confessions by the examinee. As a result of these accomplishments, Brad was awarded the United States Secret Service- Special Agent of the Year for 2015.
